WASHINGTON, JUNE 16, 1888.

WASHINGTON IN '89

Washington, D. C.

The celebration of the Centennial of the Constitution and the International Conference will bring many thousands of visitors to the National Capital, not only from all sections of the United States but from Mexico, the Central American republics and South America. The representation from the latter countries will not only be large but of distinguished and influential character, drawn hither by political and commercial considerations that should naturally form strong bonds of sympathy between the governments and peoples of the Western Hemisphere.

They will find much to gratify and astonish them in the visible institutions of the parent Republic, in its methods of operation, in its noble Capitol, in the evidences of substantial progress, of architectural and industrial art and of educationa development to be found on every hand; and it is of no inconsiderable importance that on such an occasion Washington should be seen to the best possible advantage as emblematic liberty and the chief sent and sentre of popular government in the New Grand, impressive and instructive as the "sights" of Washington now are, the prospect is that they will be materially and rapidly increased from this time on. Nothing can prevent it if the House of Representa tives responds to the action of the Senate in the same liberal and publicspirited manner with regard to various contemplated improvements that while subserving a public necessity; will add vastly to the attractiveness of the city.

What is intended to be the finest Library building in the world is lost it are just now in some doubt. ready for its foundations and will soon be well under way, and it is more than likely that before the commemorative ceremonies of the Centennial year are inaugurated, work will have begun upon another edifice that will doubtless eclipse all similar structures in massive beauty-the new Supreme Court building.

An extension of the National Museum is also proposed, to cost not less than half a million dollars. The present building, that was thought at the time of its erection to be of ample capacity for the next fifty years, is already found inadequate and larger accommodations are imperatively demanded, for which Congress should at once provide.

Work upon the buildings of the new Naval Observatory will also have begun by the time our Centennial guests arrive if the proper legislation is had, and we are not entirely without hope that Congress will have also agreed upon plans for the Memorial Bridge cross the Potomac-a proposition that has been favorably considered by the Senate Public Buildings Committee and evidently accords with the public sentiment of the country. It would be a memorable event, indeed, the laying of its first stone in" the presence of the assembled citizens of the Three Americas.

We are encouraged to believe, moreover, that the important question of a new City Postoffice and new District Buildings will be settled at the present session of Congress and the ground broken for these much-needed im provements before the setting in of another winter.

All of these propositions should be agreed upon in advance of the opening of the Centennial year of the Republic, as well for sentimental as for practical considerations. This being done, there will be no busier workshop-on the continent than the National Capital in the spring of 1889.

SUNDAY, MONDAY, TUESDAY-by that time we may know something about it.

THEREFORE, WE SAY, without intending to question the inscrutable wisdom of Him who rules all carthly rulers, that, to all human seeming, it had been far better for Frederick to have been in Will'am's place a decade ago—far better for him to have held the place that another William will occupy for years to come .- [Washington Post.

We are glad to see that in its controversy with the Almighty on the German question, the Post does not propose to overstep the courtesies of debate. It may differ with God, but magnanimously allows Him to have an opinion. The independence of our esteemed contemporary is only equaled by its telerance of opposition.

WEESTER FLANAGAN of Texas is in Chicago, and he knows what he's there for. He flies the Sherman flag.

ALTHOUGH CAPTAIN SELVEIDGE IS acquitted and released from arrest, and probably no one desires him to undergo any further penalty than he has already suffered for the offenses with which he was charged, considering his high standing as an officer and the absence of any evil motive n his alleged neglect of duty, yet the Navy Department seems to be warranted in administering a reprimand to the court martial which dealt with him so leniently. The reasons for this somewhat unusual action are stated in an extract from Secretary Whitney's order on the subject, which appears elsewhere.

Ms. Franch is right in declining to take notice of anonymous charges reflecting upon him personally. Senator Edmunds was wrong in transmitting any such communications to Mr. Fuller. Irresponsible and covert attacks upon a Presidential nomination are beneath the notice of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Much less should they ever be permitted to get out of the committee room, or be flaunted in the face of the nominee. It has a flavor of very offensive and very pernicions partisanship that the country at large will be swift to con-

PHILADELPHIA is making a desperate effort to have an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, but the fund rises almost as slowly as the Grant monument. The sum wanted is $20,000, and up to date only $7,000 have been collected.

CONGRESSMAN TIM CAMPBELL bets $5,000 that Cleveland will carry New York and ex-Congressman Page of California takes the bet. Whichever wins they are both entitled to the credit of having the conrage of their convictions.

THE LYNCHBURG Virginian says that an overwhelming majority of the people of Virginia not only want the tobacco tax repealed, but expect that it will be repealed; or, if not, that it will be contrary to reason to expect the Democrats of that State to take any enthusiastic interest in the campaign. The Chicago Convention willdoubtless, make due note of this fact, and put a plank in their platform on which the recalcitrant Democracy of the Old Dominion can stand,

ONE POINT of difference between the St. Louis Convention and the Chicago Convention is that the former was not run by political leaders while the latter will be.

THE VIRGINIA delegation to Chicago is reported as becoming Blainified.

IT WILL be worth more than th position of Vice-President to Mr. William Walter Phelps to have himself referred to by "the boys" as "Bill" Phelps or "Billie be Bang" or me of those other terms of friendly familiarny so dear to the popular LOVELL H. JEROME, son of Larry Je rome, is proving himself a useful and efficient officer, as special agent of the Treasury Department. His headquarters are at Tucson, Arizona.

MR. BLETHEN, late of the Minneapoll Tribune and the gentleman who gained a disagreeable notoriety by his assault upon Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland a year or so ago, is about to start another paper at the same place and Frank Hatton is named as his editor.

HENRI ROCHEFORT, JR., who was a men er of M. de Brazza's first expedition to the Congo, has set out from Paris for Venezuela. He will go overland into the United States of Colombia, and explore some of the least known regions about the headwaters of the Amazon.

THE CHICAGO Herald tells of a man who was strolling through the Corcoran gallery one day and became greatly inter sested in a picture of Mary, Queen of Scots, representing her with flaming red hair. His eye happening to wander to a battle scene in the immediate vicinity, fell upon a commanding general mounted upon a big white charger!

SPEARING OF MR. HEARST the "Corri SPEAKING OF MR. HEARST the "Corridor" editor of the New York Graphic says: "As a Senator he has been an unqualified success. He has attended to his duties in a faithful, painstaking and thoroughly earnest way, and while California may have had more eloquent members in that body the State has never been more worthily represented than it is by George Hearst."

THE CITY OF THE DEAD.

They do neither plight nor wed
In the city of the dead,
In the city where they sleep away the hours
But they lie, while o'er them range
Winter blight and summer change.
And a lundred bappy whisperings of flowers
No, they neither wed nor plight,
And the day is like the night.
For their vision is of other kind than ours.

They do neither sing nor sigh in that burg of by and by.
Where the streets have grasses growing, cool and long:
But they rest within their bed.
Leaving all their thoughts unsaid.
Deeming slience far hetter than sob or song.
No, they neither sigh nor sing.
Though the robin be a wing.
Though the leaves of autumn march a million strong.

There is only rest and peace in the City of Surcease, From the failings and the wallings 'neath the sub.
And the wings of the swift years
Beat but gently o'er the blors.
Making music to the sleepers, every one.
There is only peace and rest;
But to them it seemeth best.
For they lie at ease and know that life is done.
